Allan Glennon, the other star to fall under the faculty ban, played guard on the football team last fall, and up to the present time has been making good on the second crew, which is to compete at the American Henley. His place in the boat will be hard to fill.

The report that Jimmy Kerr and Hodgson, mainstays on the football team last year, were to leave George town and matriculate at the Virginia Military Institute, was emphatically nied by Manager Fitzgerald yesterday time on account of illness, the gritty halfback being a convalescent from a long slege of typhoid fever. He will be on hand again next September, according to those who seem to know, and thus settle all doubt as to the make-up of the back field on the 1907 aggregation.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 20 .- The Midshipmen defeated Johns Hopkins here this afternon by 3 to 1.

Hopkins made its only tally in the fifth inning on Whitecrafts hit, Hambsch's overthrow of first to catch Whitecraft napping, and Battle's must of Ellicott's fly.

Navy Pitchers Effective.

Both Meade, who pitched five innings for Navy, and Van Auken, who finished the game, were puzzles to visiting batsmen. Two hits were made off the former, and the Hopkins' batsmen did not succeed in landing safely on Van Auken at all. Taylor, the Hopkins' pitcher, also did well after the first inning, and allowed but three additional hits. He also made some remarkable stops in his position.

Mohn sacroed on a fielder's choice, stole second, and scored their runs in the second, and scored their runs in the seventh. Chapin got the first clean hit for Technical here, along left field foul line. Benson advanced him with a neat sacrifice. Offut was safe on a fielder's choice. Spencer was hit filling the bases. Chapin scampered in on Hamond's error, and Offut scored a moughent later on a wild throw.

The Preps won out in the final inning. Reichard seemed to be weakening here. Sitterding drew a pass and stole second.

Mehn fanned, and Cudoya filed out to center field. The preps was substituted in the winning run.

ers did most of the fielding for the infield. Each of the Navy pitchers had M four fielding chances all of which were accepted. Navy had several changes in the line-up, Gillan succeeding Purnell at shortstop, and Dague taking the place of Ducey in right field. The batting order was also generally changed. The tean is still weak with the stick and uncertain on hard fielding chances, though the players handle themselves much better on the bases.

SUBURBAN LEAGUE OFFICIAL NAVY YARD CHAMPION OF

I. H. WILSON, Secretary of the League and the Progressive and Hustling Manager of the Berwyn Team.

Keeler's Theory of Bunting

"Don't be chicken-hearted. Remember the pitcher is as scared of ou as you are of him. Don't try to knock the stuffin' out of the ball. Hold your bat firmly. Meet the ball and kind of push it where you want it

'In bunting I always aim to have the ball hit within an eighth of an inch of my fingers. My theory is that if I were standing there to make a one-hand catch of what the pitcher was going to send over, I'd at least

"Therefore, I grab the outside end of the bat with the hand I would otherwise catch the ball with and try to have the ball connect with my bat same as it would fall into my hand."

Keeler's views are realistically shown in the accompanying picture. You can see the hall is about to strike the bat close to his fingers. It looks as if he were going to get some smashed fingers, but he says he has never yet had his hand hit.

DEPARTMENTAL LEAGUE

With the play-off of the Bureau's three postponed sets, caused by the Plate Printers going to the Atlantic City tournament, the last ball has spun down the alley in the 1966-07 season of the Departmental Bowling League.

The Navy Yard team, always well up in previous years, but not quite a champion, has shown a clean pair of heels to the other teams all season and is in undisputed possession of first place with a big lead. All season the Bureaus and Asgies, evenly matched, have struggled for the "place." The Bureaus led up to the play-off of its three postponed sets, which resulted in a tie-up with the Farmers, the Bureaus getting the honor of the position, due to a larger total of pins.

Postoffice, well up formerly, has finished a bad last, largely on account of trying out new men.

Bowsher, of the champions, is the leader of the individuals, with an average of over 190, and also has secured high set of 666. This last mark stood for high until the very close of the season, when Jimmy Fields, in his last set, ran strings of 233, 211, and 233, a total of 677, winning him the prize for this event.

Schrader's 277, made in mid-season, has never been topped for high single game, and wins for the Treasury leader a handsome prize. Navy ran the biggest team game—1,668, and highest set of the individuals, with an average of over 190, and also has secured high set of 666. This last mark stood for high until the very close of the season, when Jimmy Fields, in his last set, ran strings of 233, 211, and 233, a total of 677, winning him the prize for this event.

of the greatest give and take battle fought in the club arena. Hayes deserved the decision.

The bout was at 125 pounds, and was fought under the break clean rules. Although the exchanges were hard and rapid in the first three rounds with honors even, each was cautious and always kept his jaw out of harm's way. After the third round Hayes threw caution to the winds and played for Weeks' body. He was relentless in his boring in and landed scores of blows under the Cripple Creek boxer's heart.

Weeks always came back, but his blows lacked steam. He was wild with his swings, while Hayes rarely missed a punch. Although the pace was terrific, each seemed able to go a greater distance at the end of the sixth round. Hayes, however, finished the stronger of the two and was justly entitled to the decision.
